EUROPEAN SUMMER SCHOOL – PROJECT WEEK AT DR. OETKER

European Summer School students with Alessandra Ali-Osthoff, Denise Kapelle, Pieter Denies and Sebastian GebSKI from Dr. Oetker and Uta Kentzler and Nermin Köklüce from Business Faculty of BUAS

Students from six countries took part in the six-week Summer School of the Faculty of Business. In addition to international courses on current topics, excursions to the German Parliament in Berlin or to the International Court of Justice in The Hague offered insights into European political and economic practice. The highlight of the Summer School was once again the project week with a German company. In small groups, the students presented their results on a real topic specified by the company. This year, the students took on a task from the Bielefeld-based company Dr. Oetker.

RENEWED DAAD APPLICATION WITH YOUR SUPPORT!

All good things come in threes. After two rejections of the application for external funding in the DAAD program HAW.International, the Faculty of Business has again applied with the help of regional companies. The project is intended to strengthen the internationalization of the UAS through a closer integration of already established concepts such as CintQoop and to bring forth new opportunities. This project is specifically about two issues:

1. to improve access to internships at home and abroad for UAS students and international students. We would like to find out which qualifications the companies need from the students for an internship with an international connection, so that we can prepare our students specifically for such an internship. Workshops and scholarships are planned for such internships.
2. the offer of further English-language education courses with international reference is to be extended.
